THURSDAY, APRIL 14 1904

We are authorized to announce the name of

GEORGE D. PARROTT
 is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Washington county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.
 Election November 1905.

A DELIBERATE MAN.

He ate his Peppermint Candy and Caught the Stomach Bug.
 Charles Stuart, age nine, son of Mr. Stuart, was traveling by stage through his own state. The weather was bitterly cold, the snow deep, the roads practically unbroken. The stage was nearly one hour late at the station, everybody was more or less cross and in a hurry and the situation uncomfortable for the time being.

Senator Stuart sat down to his dinner with his usual deliberation, notwithstanding the word that was passed around, "Fifteen minutes for refreshments."

When he had finished his first cup of coffee the passengers were leaving the table. By the time the second cup arrived the stage was at the door. "All aboard!" shouted the driver. The senator flung and called for a third cup of coffee. The crowd laughed and stung back chairs at the deliberate man at the table.

While the household, as was the custom, assembled at the door to see the stage drive away, the senator continued calmly detailing the details of his journey, just as the stage started, there was a violent pounding on the dining room table, and the landlord hurried in, to find that the senator wanted a dish of rice pudding. When it came he called for a spoon, but there wasn't a spoon to be found.

"That shock head fellow took 'em; I thought he was a crook!" exclaimed the landlord.

The landlord jumped at the same conclusion.

"Rude after that stage; bring 'em all back!" he shouted to the sheriff, who was trying his horse from the rail in front of the stage.

A few minutes later the stage, in charge of the sheriff, arrived in front of the house. The driver was in a fury.

"Search them passengers!" yelled the landlord.

But before the officer could move the senator opened the stage door, stepped the sheriff's arm and whispered:

"Tell the landlord he'll find his spoon in the coffee!"—Boston Post.

WISDOM OF NOVELISTS.

There is no man so cautious about money as your reformed spendthrift—G. H. Burtin.

A man who stands much upon his dignity have not, as a rule, much else to stand upon.—Satan Merriam.

The virtues of our loved ones we admire. Their failings we would forget. But over their follies we love to linger smiling.—Jerome K. Jerome.

Any fool can give a notion. It needs training to drive a thing through training and conviction, not rushing after the first fancy.—Rudyard Kipling.

Sometimes a chance remark, which has very little significance for the person who makes it, is like an aperture that lets in light on the whole character.—Sarah Grand.

Superstition, in its essence, is merely a recognition of the fact that a thing in a universe of mysteries and conditions, like ours, nothing conceivable or inconceivable is impossible.—Henry Harland.

FILLS OUT THIN CHEEKS

"Mi-na is the Only Natural Way to Gain Firm, Solid Fat." Says Druggists Wood & Campbell

There are altogether too many pale, thin and emaciated people who manifestly do not have the proper weight. The last two years, pale, thin people have increased in numbers rapidly.

Emaciated faces and general thinness can be overcome by the use of Mi-na, the flesh forming food that Druggists Wood & Campbell are selling in such large quantities. You who have thin, pale cheeks can be fat, plump, strong, hearty, with the rosy glow of health if you will but use Mi-na.

Wood & Campbell one of the most reliable drug firms in this section are selling Mi-na as a box under a positive and absolute guarantee to refund your money if it does not fill out thin cheeks and make the user plump, rosy and healthy.

Mi-na does all this in a perfectly natural way. It mingles with the food you eat, aids assimilation, restores the digestive organs to action and gives the whole system the proper physical condition. Those who use Mi-na do not risk a penny when they buy it. Druggists Wood & Campbell will give a written guarantee to refund every cent to refund the money if it does not increase flesh, give freedom from stomach troubles and restore health and strength. Go to their store today and get a month's treatment to be used at their risk.

Charlie Melvory sold his large crop of tobacco to John Armstrong. Price private.

We are glad to report all of our sick able to be out with the exception of Mrs. Emma Leachman who has been quite sick but under the skillful treatment of Dr. Hopper she is rapidly improving.

Our farmers have finished sowing oats and probably the largest crop sowed here for years has been put out this time on account of so many wheat fields being sowed in oats. The rye fields look fairly well and will make about a half crop. Very little gardening with the exception of potato planting has yet been done.

We desire to say to the Willisburg correspondent and the many friends who have highly complimented our "write up" of their town that we most certainly say in response all the kind things said about our letter. We would be glad to have a piece from the able correspondent on the contrary.

We noticed that the Grove writer says that our neighbor Captain Settle will make a clean sweep of that vicinity for Coroner. Good for the general Capt. He is such a hustling campaigner that he will make a clean sweep of the county in the primary.

We are requested to say that all the members of the Christian church and all others interested in religious work are invited to attend church here the Fourth Sunday at 11 o'clock. Arrangements will be made for preaching that day and steps taken to

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

Mr. Tom Corbett had the misfortune to lose a valuable mule one day last week. Cause unknown.

Mrs. Polk's Escape. When Polk, a member of congress and his wife were riding in a coach in Tennessee.

The driver ventured into a swollen stream, where presently the horse got beyond their depth and commenced swimming. A little more and the coach would have been swamped. At that moment a man came up the bank on horseback and shouted to the driver to stop.

The danger seemed imminent, and Mr. Polk, who could not swim, called out from his seat inside the coach, offering any amount of money to any one who would save his wife. The man on horseback seemed afraid to venture to the rescue, but Mr. Granville Polk who was sitting beside Mrs. Polk, threw off his coat, exclaiming, "I will take you out, madam!"

He swam to the bank, compelled the man to give up his horse, mounted, plunged into the rapid current, came up behind the stage and told Mrs. Polk to step on the high land wheel and thence upon the shoulder of the horse. He held her firmly in his arms and bore her safely to the bank.

Dickens' Name. A question has arisen in the Pall Mall Gazette as to the earliest authentic portrait of Charles Dickens. Mr. F. G. Kilton writes to that journal as follows: "I venture to say that the earliest presentment which bears the stamp of authenticity is the miniature on ivory painted by Mrs. John Barrow (nee Ross) in 1830, representing 'Dick' at the age of eighteen, with a high sailing coat and wearing a coat with broad lapels such as was worn in the reign of William IV. Mrs. Barrow was an aunt of Dickens and adorned great rooms as a collector of mementoes."

"With regard to the correct spelling of Dickens' third baptismal name there is I think no doubt that 'Dick' is the accurate rendering. My authority is the late Robert Langton, who, in his carefully compiled work on 'The Childhood and Youth of Charles Dickens,' points out that the spelling of the name as 'Dickens' in the Porteus register of baptisms, is undoubtedly an assertion borne out by Foster's remark that on rare occasions Dickens himself wrote it without the second 'n'."

A MATTER OF ACCENT. It was Very Embarrassing For the Lady Who Liked Duck.

The canvass back duck looked very tempting to the hungry dinner guest, but it was a case of "eat or be eaten." She determined to take two, though a guilty glance at the plates showed her that none of the other guests had ventured upon more than one. She sliced away like a whole duck as they lay before her, safely landed. Was everybody at the table gazing at them? To her horror, the better, instead of moving on, stood behind the plate by her side. Was the top in his voice one of stern disapproval or sarcasm? For there he stood and asked:

"How many?"

Her head ached. Clearly it was sarcasm, but the insolence of the man! She thought to close the incident gracefully by turning with a remark to her neighbor. Not at all. Reiteration was not to be put away thus lightly. Again that cold, mocking voice in her ear:

"How many?"

"Everybody at the table by this time must be transfixed by her two slices, but she did not dare look up. The better must be drunk up. What was to be done to avoid a second? Just then from down the table came the cheery voice of the waiters:

"Well, Mrs. Langmore, aren't you going to take some home with you, just?"—New York Times.
